SALUTAMUS.

THE BRIC-À-BRAC makes its annual salutation. Profited by the experience of our predecessors, we have endeavored to make it more complete than ever. To attain this end, no pains have been spared, and greater expense has been incurred.

We deemed it wise to make an innovation in the style of cover, and it is our desire that the patrons of THE BRIC-À-BRAC will sustain us in this as in other changes of minor importance.

Our thanks we extend to those who have in any way assisted us, and in presenting this, the twelfth issue of the college annual, we can but hope for the same generous criticism and cordial support which have greeted the efforts of previous classes at the hands of the alumni and undergraduates.

A PHILOSOPHIC SERIES.

By JAMES McCOSH, D.D., LL.D., D.L.

President of Princeton College,

Author of "Method of Divine Government," "Intuitions," "Laws of Discursive Thought," "Emotions," etc.

It need hardly be said that whatever comes from Dr. McCosh's pen is characterized by remarkable vigor and clearness, and even if the tone be somewhat dogmatic, it must be remembered that it is the dogmatic tone of one of the ablest living leaders of Scotch thought. The first of the series just referred to partly goes over the ground of Institutions and the Logic of the same author. There has been much condensation and there are some valuable additions. The work has been prepared with special reference to the Agnosticism of the day; it is sufficiently controversial to make it of interest to the general reader; it is sufficiently simple to make it of value as an academic text-book of reference.—Presbyterian Review.

PART I.—DIDACTIC.

In this part of the Series the principal philosophic questions of the day are discussed, including the Tests of Truth, Causation, Development, and the Character of our world.

No. I. Criteria of Diverse Kinds of Truth.

N. B.—This little volume might be used as a text-book in Colleges and Upper Schools.

No. II. Energy, Efficient and Final Cause. An attempt is here made to clear up the subject of Causation which has become considerably confused.

No. III. Development, What it can do and What it cannot do. Development is here presented to show that it is not opposed to religion, and that the conclusions drawn from it by some of its defenders are not legitimate.

No. IV.—Certitude, Providence and Prayer, with an inquiry as to what is the character of our world showing that it is neither optimist nor pessimist, but going on toward perfection.

N. B.—There is an impression that later science and philosophy has set aside old and fundamental truths in religion and philosophy. It is not so. Some of the old truths may have to be put in a new form, and a new line of defence taken up, but the radical truths remain as deeply founded as ever.

PART II.—HISTORICAL.

In this part the same questions are treated historically. The systems of the philosophers who have discussed them are stated and examined, and the truth and error in each of them carefully pointed out.

No. V. Locke's Theory of Knowledge, with a notice of Berkeley. It is shown that Locke held by a body of truth, and that he has often been misunderstood; but that he has not by his experience theory laid a sure foundation of knowledge.

No. VI. Agnosticism of Hume and Huxley, with a notice of the Scottish School. It is necessary to examine Hume's Scepticism, but it is best to do so in the defence of it by Huxley.

No. VII. A Criticism of the Critical Philosophy showing that Kant has stated and defended most important truths, but has undermined knowledge, by making the mind begin with appearances and not with things.

No. VIII. Herbert Spencer's Philosophy as culminating in his Ethics. Here there will be a careful examination of his physiological utilitarianism.

Each, one vol., 12mo, paper. Price, 50 cents.

FISHER'S OUTLINES

—OF—

UNIVERSAL HISTORY

DESIGNED AS A TEXT-BOOK AND FOR PRIVATE READING,

By Professor GEORGE PARK FISHER, D.D., LL.D., of Yale College.

8vo, Cloth, Morocco back, 690 pages, with 32 Maps.

IT is with special pleasure that the publishers present the OUTLINES OF UNIVERSAL HISTORY as a work covering a field peculiar to itself and written by a thoroughly competent authority. It is believed that the author's well-known learning, candor, and philosophical method, together with his terse, vigorous, and finished style, have combined to produce a work which, for higher schools, colleges, and reading circles, will become the recognized standard.

"..I am astonished that any one man should have been able to write such a work as the "Outlines of Universal History." No living man is more competent to do it than Dr. Fisher. I keep the book on my table for constant reference."

—President JAS. McCOSH, LL.D., Princeton College.
